HITKOVÁ, Eva. Aggression in Primary School [Thesis]. Prague: Charles University in Prague, Faculty of Education, 2010.

The diploma thesis focuses on issues of aggression and aggressiveness of children in nursery school. The aim is to monitor the incidence, causes and manifestations of aggressive behavior in preschool children.

The work is divided into ten main chapters. First, focus on the characteristics of the psyche of a preschool age and a child's socialization. It concentrates on the theory, explanation of key concepts and definitions of aggression. An integral part of this work is a list of causes and manifestations of aggression in children in nursery school. Within these chapters it tries to understand and analyze the influences affecting the preschool children and their behavior.

In the empirical part, it deals with the investigation and detection of actual aggression and also the aggression in today's nursery school in preschool children. The survey was conducted by an observation of children in nursery school. The results were recorded and further processed into tables and graphs.

The conclusion is based on collected data, findings and results of the research.
