

The thesis addresses the research of working with dreams in the context of biosynthesis. The aim of the theoretical part is to find a common way for working with both dreams and the body with emphasis on working with dreams in terms of the biosynthesis itself. The aim of the empirical part of the thesis is mapping the specifics of working with dreams in the context of body oriented approaches with emphasis on the context of biosynthesis. The respondents of the research were the participants on the biosynthesis training. Their answers within the semi-structured interview were summarized and subjected to critical analysis.