

TITLE:

The development of volleyball rules and its influence on the gameplay and combinations

ABSTRACT:

The goal of my thesis is to study the influence of changes in volleyball rules on the development of game systems and game combinations. In this paper I will attempt to answer and discuss the following scientific question: What influence have changes of the volleyball rules had on the development of game systems and game combinations. I will chart the development of volleyball rules from 1950 until present. I will study how the parameters of the playing field and its surroundings have changed. I will chart the development of volleyball equipment, mainly the volleyball net and the ball. Based on studying the changes of volleyball rules, I will compare the development of game systems and game combinations. I will compare the lengths of the games based on the changes of the rules.

KEY WORDS:

Volleyball, the rules of volleyball, game combinations in volleyball, game systems in volleyball.