

Abstract

Diploma thesis „Structural and contentual transformation of Czech and Polish magazines focused on film and cinematography after 1989“ focuses deals with character of the change of magazines focused on film and cinematography after the breaking year 1989. The thesis is searching for these changes in Polish and Czech background and their similarities or differences. It follows the structure and thematic content of these magazines connected with the transformation of social-political and media background.