

In my studies "Specific Patterns of Latin American Vegetation From Perspective Of Time and Area" I introduced basic terminology and statements from climatology and bio-geography focused on Latin America's continent conditions. I also included in my studies history of agriculture, specific aboriginal growth and in a separate chapter i mention Czech explorers, who helped to uncover and recognise flora of Latin America.