

Resume:

The topic of the diploma thesis was problematic of the impact of dramatic social and personal education on student self-esteem. In the theoretical part of the explanation of psychological concepts related to personality. The distribution of each chapter make structured to provide information needed to create a complete picture of the issue. The largest space was devoted to methods and techniques used in drama and personal social education. The practical part of the emphasis on application of the above-mentioned methods and techniques in teaching lessons.