

The objective of this work is to analyze one of the most remarkable works of modern Japanese woman writer Hayashi Fumiko, classify this work in the context of modern Japanese literature and observe the evolution of her style in time. It is necessary to assess this work with a respect to her life, because the author has made this a major source of her inspiration.