

I called my thesis "Preparatory period for reading and writing". It is concerned with conception of reading and writing and its target, readiness of children of early school age for reading and writing schooling. It contains also didactic material with didactic games and working sheets for skills training, necessary for reading and writing. My aim is to provide teachers integral file of preparation for reading and writing. According to my research, teachers would be interested in it. The complex of materials has been verified by teachers and it has been helping children to overcome problems of reading and writing beginnings for all this school year.
