Bachelor thesis „PREVENTIVE MEASURES IN THE FIELD OF BULLYING, PARTICULARLY CYBERBULLYING“ deals with the issue of bullying and cyberbullying today. I think it's a global problem which appears not only in families, schools, but also employment, military... In my work I try to explain what the concept of bullying and cyberbullying is, what are the causes, features, characters, stages, who is the victim, who is the aggressor. It also, what are the types of bullying and cyberbullying, where we encounter the problem and what is a possible solution. In their work also represents professionals who deal with this problem for years. I highlight what are their views on this issue, I present a few real victims and response experts. The work is not research, using questionnaires, to clarify what the situation is one of Prague's elementary school, but also a kind of guide of what to do if a problem arises, where to seek help, who to contact. And of course, are dedicated to the Annex as well as newspaper, internet articles, fliers, interview...

The whole job is to capture as big a problem bullying, especially in today's modern world of widespread cyber present.
