

Summary:

Rheumatoid arthritis represents the topic of my bachelor thesis. The first part of this text is focused on general arthrology and characteristics of rheumatoid arthritis. The second, special part deals with the patient suffering from rheumatoid arthritis. Furthermore this part contains of short-term and long-term therapeutic plan, suggestion of therapy and description of every single therapy.