

Supervisor's Review - Bachelor Thesis

Author: Elena Irodotou

Supervisor: PhDr. Eva Chalupová, Ph.D.

Title: Internal Motivation as a major factor in young male Athletes

1. Thesis is the empirical study of motivation in small sample of young Cyprian basketball players.
2. The author shows understanding of the research process, she was able to write down theoretical part in satisfactory scope and quality for bachelor thesis and her data were correctly analyzed.
3. Although this study used only small sample it may have some practical implications for the practice – for the coaches work with motivation in that particular community.
4. I must note that this thesis was written almost without my supervision because the author was living in Cyprus during the year, but finally she manage to finish it successfully.
5. I would like to conclude that the author is able to work independently on scientific project and finish it successfully. I recommend her thesis for acceptance and suggest marking it excellent or very good.
