

Abstract

The work deals with body modification performance, a kind of dramatic art which includes the permanent and non-permanent forms of body modification (body play), from the actor's perspective. Qualitative research is followed the phenomenological perspective, which produce experience and perception of the actors.