

ABSTRACT

The object of my dissertation is connection poetry and locomotion with pre-school children. The goal of my research is realize, which poems and motions are preferred by children and what is the reason of their choose. The methods in my dissertation are interview, experiment and observation. All of these methods detect relation of children to poetry and locomotion. I have discovered the interesting style of work with pre-school children. The children have appreciated various language and form resources. I have discovered, that children love particularly dynamical and simple activities, which enable maximum discharge of energy. I will trying to choose the poetry and locomotion, which is the nearest for pre-school age. I hope, that my discovered will be interesting inspiration for teacher in kindergarten.
