

Title:

Transition programmes as an assistance for physically handicapped person in transit from school to jobs

Abstract:

This diploma work engage problems of transition programme for people with physical handicap. It defines area of physical handicap, shows evolution of care for people with physical handicap and shows today's situation of comprehensive educational care and advisory system for person with physical handicap. It shows possibilities of social and labor integration with attentions to specific risks in life of person with physical handicap, especially unemployment. Fundamental part of this work describes transition programme, its principles and intentions and introduces realization of concrete example. Intention of this work is to find fields of frustration and find out whether transition programmes are focused on these fields to make their clients satisfied. That's why the exploration with the questionnaire was done. Its results show that the unemployment makes answerers unsatisfied the most. Because transition programmes are focused on searching for suitable jobs for their client, they should be support in it. But results show low education of answerers as well, but not dissatisfaction with this fact. To fortify chances to get suitable job clients should be more motivated to get higher education.
