

Annotation

The topic of my work is the idea of good. I describe the evolution of the idea of good in three periods of antique philosophy. The first period is about presocratics. The second period is represented by Sokrates, Platon and Aristoteles. The last part of this work is about helenism and the most three important philosophical schools of helenism – epikureism, stoicism and scepticism. My ambition is not only to introduce all the periods and diferent philosophical schools, but also to compare them.
