

In my thesis I am writing about women, mothers, who are recovering from drug addiction. I am describing non-profit social organization SANANIM, which is specialized in treatment of all kinds of addictions. The thesis describes also about its parts and history. I am characterizing women - the specific group of a drug addicted people, their features, partner relationships and the connection with abuse and prostitution, subsequent pregnancy and decision to abstain and cure themselves. Then describes the influence of children in process of medical treatment. The empiric part consist of research, based on relationship needs and parental competences of clients from Therapeutic community Karlov and Rehab centre SANANIM.