

ABSTRACT

I have processed a video broadcast for this graduation thesis. The video is introducing Vocational School of Forestry in Písky, its facilities including the hall of residence. It is also including the theoretical student training, the vocational education, the education during the leisure time and other school events. The practical part is focused on the video broadcast shooting and editing, its comments and the musical background. The theoretical part is including the advantages of video equipment used for processing of assigned topic, the comparison and evaluation of other presentation methods, the opportunity of this video broadcast application in practice and the delineation of the theme, the subject matter and technical script. I have added to my graduation thesis the photo documentation composed by PowerPoint program including present documents and also the documents from the history of the vocational school.
