

This thesis deals with history and activities of Ministry of Defence publishing house since 1997 - when this institution was named Military Information and Service Agency, transformed and renamed Presentation and business information center MoD in 2008 - until present times when it is known as Department of Communication and Promotion MoD bearing this name since 2011. The work focuses on both internal activities - internal organization, publishing activities, compilation of books - as well as external activities, such as setting position of this state publishing house on the book market and distribution of noncommercial publications.