

Abstract

Pursuant the comparison of novel Farewell, my concubine written by a Hong Kong novelist Li Bihua with its film adaptation, this master's thesis is analyzing the way of transition from literary text to audio-visual media and observes the differences, which are not only the result of this transformation, but also an example of different cultural environment of Hong Kong and the PRC.