

In my bachelor's thesis I am analyzing the question of the development of man and dog interaction from two perspectives. The first perspective is based on the analysis of the artistic objects from the prehistoric time to the present. The second perspective is based on the exploring the positive impact of the canistherapy on human.

In the research part I am analyzing whether and what changes occurred in the child's abilities and skills during the canistherapy and how the relationship of the child and the dog is shown in the childrens' artistic expression. The research is based on the case reports of the children, the interview with the teachers and a canistherapist, direct observation of the children during the canistherapy and the analysis of their drawings.
