

Název v angličtině:

Children with Deafblindness: Types of Communication

Annotation:

This diploma thesis deals with a view to the communication and to the types of communication according to the people with deafblindness, especially to the development of the communication by the children.

The work is focused on both deafblindness and specifics which it brings to someone at childhood. There are also mentioned the most frequent types of communication by the people with deafblindness. In the second part of the thesis are developed the results of survey which brings a practical look to this issue.

All these collected knowledge and experience could bring us closer to the life of one group of people with multiple disabilities – the people with deafblindness.

Keywords:

deafblindness, a child/human being with deafblindness, communication, types of communication