

Summary

Jehovah as God of Peace in the Theology of the Apostle Paul

The thesis deals with theological grounds, which led the apostle Paul to use the phrase ‚God of peace‘. The thesis asks, what The Old Testament can say to this question. Based on the exegesis 2C 5,18–6,2 and Rom 5,1–11 it investigates how Paul interprets the event of Christ’s cross and how he speaks about God yet. It observes, what role play in the statements about God the terms ‚reconciliation‘ and ‚peace‘ and other important dates of Paul’s Theology.
