

Abstract

This bachelor work tries to clarify life and work of Ing. Arch. Vojtech Dvorak. The work follows his roots, praxes and teaching activities. Whereas there hasn't been paid much attention to this figure, the content of the work is mostly based on contemporary sources and archives. As Dvorak's work was mostly connected with Brno Czech industrial school, most of materials come from Archive of Brno city. The first chapter of the work describes environment and Dvorak's family background. The next chapter follows Dvorak's education, gaining praxes and important people in his life. The main part of the work contains list of the architect's realizations and take up cooperation between him and his colleague Karel Welzl (12. 3. 1854–22. 11. 1918). The bachelor work also describes Vojtech Dvorak as a person, who left indelible mark in history of the first industrial school in Moravia and outlines him from the perspective of his colleagues, friends and family.
