

This work deals with extant annual customs at Jindřichův Hradec. The aim of the work was map and describe contemporary state of extant annual customs in chosen localities. Describe their function and importance for current social life in selected villages.