

The abstract

The presented bachelor's thesis examines the Ardennes Offensive undertaken in the end of the year of 1944 during the World War II. Based on the study of monographs related to this subject as well as examination of relevant historical sources, the aim of this thesis is to describe the planning, preparation and key military aspects of this operation. The final chapter analyses the causes of the German failure.