

Abstract:

Title: Development and current status of Police of the Czech Republic within the framework of an integrated emergency system in the Czech Republic.

Objectives of work: describe the development and current status of Police of the Czech Republic within the framework of the Integrated Rescue System in the Czech Republic focusing on current legislation in relation to the Police of the Czech Republic as an independent entity and the legislation that regulates the activity of this component within the integrated rescue system in the Czech Republic. Briefly describe activities of municipal police. To express the relationship between the integrated rescue system and the Police of the Czech Republic. Affect the structure of command and control integrated rescue system, including contingency and emergency planning. Briefly describe type activities on the performance of the Police of the Czech Republic participates in the integrated rescue system in the Czech Republic.

Method: The available sources of information to organize activities and tasks of the Police of the Czech Republic within the integrated rescue system in the Czech Republic.

Keywords: emergency, rescue and liquidation work, crisis management, business type, commander of the intervention, crisis and emergency planning, the Ministry of Interior.