

Abstract

Thesis "Cooperation between public administration and civil sector in solving social problems in areas" discusses the possibilities and practical cooperation between the public authorities and non-profit organizations providing social services in area of Českobrodsko.

The aim of the study was to determine whether in cooperation between the two organizations has been established and that the way it operates, contributes to solving social problems.

The theoretical part contains information about jobs in both sectors within the system of social policy. Also maps the area of Českobrodsko in terms of conditions for cooperation in these sectors in the social field and learns what social problems must be to solve in the area.

The practical part explores how specific this partnership works, what gets results and what are mutual expectations to improve it.

In final part contains a options designed for improving cooperation between the two sectors.