

Abstract

HIV – the knowledge and awareness of students on the primary school and secondary school

The subject of the thesis and aims is to determine the level of knowledge of pupils and students in primary and secondary schools from around Rakovník. The thesis consists of a theoretical and practical part. The first part summarizes all accessible knowledge about HIV / AIDS. There are also processed educational documents binding for different types of schools. A large part of the practical part is devoted to the results of a questionnaire survey among pupils and students. It also shows the course teacher observation. Subsequent discussion compares results of pupils and students from Rakovnícko with results of pupils included in other studies. Given the results are in the discussion highlighted preventive activities of organizations that are mentioned in the theoretical part.

Keywords

HIV, AIDS, prevention, education, nonprofit organizations