

This bachelor thesis focuses on marketing and advertisement in entertainment industry. In theoretical part the work initially outlines basic marketing knowledge and after that attends to the theory of advertisement. In analytical part the work introduces marketing in entertainment industry on the example of movie industry. It examines movie success criteria, and afterwards analyzes, which factors affect the success of the movies. Finally, this work researches advertisement in movie industry.