

Abstract:

Title: Development and current status of rescue unit of the Fire brigade within the scope of Integrated Rescue System in CR.

Objectives: The objective of this thesis is the description of the organisation structure, force and resources and targets of military rescue units from their origin up to the present day.

Methods: Bachelors theses in a theoretical style is focused into the study of available information sources, its research. Collection of publications, articles, conceptual material and other written records connected to the history of army rescue units and information regarding the present day activity of the rescue unit of the Fire brigade CR.

Results: Result of this bachelor thesis is a complete overview about the development and activities of the rescue units since their origin up to present day.

Key words: rescue, firefighters, integrated rescue system, rescue unit