

The aim of this thesis Communicating with problematic users in selected libraries is to analyze problematic behavior of user and readers in the selected libraries. First part describes basic information about theory of communication. Thesis presents frequently discussed phenomena of problematic users and specific appearance presented in exploration. Which is focused on how libraries describe problematic users in library rules and which communication tactic is used to deal with them.