

Abstract

The aim of the submitted thesis „TV show Ulice (The Street) as the first Czech daily Soap opera is to analyze TV Nova’s daily series Ulice. The first part of the thesis defines soap opera as a genre, it’s history, development and definition. It defines characteristic elements of genre. Then the thesis concerns with TV show Ulice. It describes creation of the show, production, environment and characters of the show. Ulice is compared with British shows Coronation Street and EastEnders throughout the thesis.