

TITLE:

The effective communication between the school management and the school board

AUTHOR:

Jana Páčová

DEPARTMENT:

Education Management Center

SUPERVISOR:

Mgr. Irena Lhotková, Ph.D.

ABSTRACT:

The object of my dissertation “The effective communication between the school management and the school board“ is to analyze the ways of communication between the members of school boards and school management. The goal is to find out which ways of communication are mostly used, their positive and negative features, and the frequency and reasons of this communication between both sides. Based on the figures emerging from the research that has been carried out to design recommendations which would help to choose the appropriate form of communication and make the whole communication process easier.

The theoretical part of the dissertation deals with defining of terms such as communication, communication process, types, forms and functions of communication, school board and school management.

The practical part arranges the survey, carried out in the form of questionnaire, based on allegations. At the end of the thesis the recommendation for an effective communication is suggested.

KEYWORDS:

communication, school board, school management