

Abstract:

The main issue of this diploma work is the problem of migration and immigrants' position in the Czech society. The way out and the theoretical background is mainly to define the concept of migration and its historical concept, the basic approaches to migration and migration theory are also included. Further aim of this work is presenting the vision of interculturalism and multiculturalism and their effect on society.

This entire work is conceived as theoretical-empirical, so it is supplemented by survey research on the situation of migrants in society. The main objective of this work is survey to represent the look of students on the topic of migration and their comparison with accessible immigration polls from the Czech Republic and Great Britain.

Keywords: the migration, the interculturalism, the interculturalism, the poll