

Abstract

The aim of Bachelor thesis "Municipal self - government in the Czech Republic (concretization on the example of municipality Davle)" is a theoretical as well as practical description of the activity of municipal autonomy in the Czech Republic. The work is divided into two main parts, which are further divided into chapters and sub-chapters, contains a theoretical description of the issue to him, followed by a practical section showing the specific functioning of municipal government in the place of my residence in the township Davle.