

Abstract

Title: Casuistry of physiotherapeutic care of patient with diagnosis after fracture of heel on right lower extremity and fracture of ankle on left lower extremity.

Aims: The aim of this work is the casuistry of a patient during the process of continuous professional experience and familiarity with the theoretical reasons diagnosis of foot and ankle fractures.

Methods: This thesis is divided into two parts, namely general and special. The general part is processed anatomy, biomechanics, kinesiology and traumatology, ankle and foot. Elaborated the issue of different types of fractures ankle and foot and subsequent physiotherapy. In the special case of a patient is treated for fractures of the foot and ankle. This section was developed in the undergraduate experience held in the period from 01.07 - 2.1 2013.

Keywords: ankle joint, casuistry, osteosynthesis, physiotherapy