

Abstract

Name of Thesis: Program differences of the summer camps of the selected non-profit organizations.

Thesis objectives: The comparison of the program differences of four non-profit organizations was the objective of the research.

Method: All data were found out through the questionnaire, which was send by email through the home organization. These data were analyzed and the conclusions were deduced from therm.

Results: The research proved that the program differences are very insignificant at these organizations. Each detachment has its specifics and it prepares the camp by its way, but the final orientation and also course of games are very similar. It doesn't matter so many about the organizations, to which the detachments are included, but rather about the detachment itself.

Key words: Summer camp, whole-camp laps game, Association TOM, Pioneer, Scout, Woodcraft.
