

Abstract

Title of the thesis: Regional gastronomy of France d'Oil

Keywords: gastronomy, cuisine, region, specialities, alimentation, label

Abstract:

The subject of the bachelor's thesis is the regional gastronomy of France. In its parts individual products and specialities typical for different regions are described. Further, the gastronomy is presented as a cultural phenomenon in lives of French people and eating habits of them are outlined. Apart from the regional products there are also food labels and their importance during shopping described in the thesis. On the basis of own research the position and acquaintance of French gastronomy in the Czech republic is studied together with conscience of Czechs about French specialities.