

Abstract

The thesis observe activities of pupils at the lower stage of primary schools in the town of Písek. The theoretical part define basic concepts related to leisure activities and give options of activities in Písek that children can engage in.

In the practical part of the thesis a survey in form of a questionnaire carri out to find out how the 5th grade students of primary schools in Písek spend their leisure time. Second objective is to show the differences between demand and supply of leisure activities - whether the market is saturated enough or whether there is demand for activities that are not offered in the town. The last goal is to find out if, when choosing leisure activities, children were advised by their parents, friends or if they selected the given physical activity on their own. The survey will be carried out at J.K. Tyl and T. G. Masaryk primary schools in Písek.
