

The bachelor thesis deals with scholarly communication, its development, process, current state and its formal and informal ways. The thesis focuses on the analysis of specialized social networks and the analysis of systems aimed to the identification of scientists. The last part deals with the use of specialized social networks within the CTU.