

Abstract

The aim of this thesis is to introduce international adoption issues in Republic of Korea and reintegration of Korean adoptees to Korean society. The first part focuses on history of international adoptions in Republic of Korea, the second part introduces individual reintegration programs of governmental and non-governmental agencies. The third part deals with media and Korean society and government's stance.