

ABSTRACT:

The diploma thesis „M-technologies in education and in the management of Primary schools in the Moravian-Silesian region“ deals with modern technologies in the context of education and in the context of school management. The theoretical part summarizes the basic theoretical information about m-technologies and other modern technologies which then comes the part of research of the thesis which is focused on facilities and use of modern technologies ICT in education and in the management of Primary schools in the Moravian-Silesian region. Questionnaire results and research about using modern technologies in education and in school management are the focus of the practical part. The thesis deals with level of implementation and use of m-technologies and other modern technologies in primary schools.

KEYWORDS:

information and communication technologies; m-technologies; tablet; smartphone; eReader; interactive whiteboard; dataprojector; data box; information system