

The main topic of thesis is to describe and draw attention to the unification policy of South Korea during Lee Myung-bak administration in 2007-2012 term. Thesis contrasts different aspects of the policy from the policies of the previous administrations. Furthermore, the economic and social character of the problem is included, where I lightly try to outline the opportunities and prospective scenarios of the given term.