

Summary

The topic of this work is literature teaching focused on students with learning disabilities at secondary school.

The first part describes wide variety of learning disabilities and disorders. Also concerns creation of IEP-Individualized Education Program for students who receive special education and related services. The main objectives in literature teaching are demarcated as well as learning strategies' taxonomy.

The subsequent part presents worksheets especially developed for 6th grade pupils with IEP but not only for them. This offers the easier way to reach the study aims and tries to motivate students to pursue further studies in the field of literature. Each worksheet is followed by further explanation as an inspiration for other literature teachers.
