

The bachelor thesis is focused on the evaluation of the situation of the child and family. The aim of the thesis is to explain the objectives, methods, procedures, advantages or disadvantages of the evaluation process. Then the thesis describes and evaluates how the evaluation process is applied in practice through casuistry and practices of social workers within social and legal protection of children. During the thesis we draw on theoretical knowledge, specialized literature, legislative and methodological materials, casuistry and the practical experiences of social workers from Social and Legal Protection of Children.