

Abstract

Presented bachelor thesis intends to introduce the history of gendarmerie stations in Čerčany and Červený Újezd in the context of development of Czechoslovakian gendarmerie during the years 1918 – 1945.

The thesis is divided to four chapters. The first chapter evaluates contemporary literature and available sources to the questions of gendarmerie, with special emphasis on gendarmerie stations. Second chapter summarizes development of gendarmerie and its organisation, personnel question, education and service in 1918-1945 period. In the third chapter there is brief look on the history of municipalities Čerčany and Červený Újezd, particularly in the period of existence of local gendarmerie stations. Heart of this work is the fourth chapter, which contains information about history of the stations, its personnel and activities in the period under consideration.
