

The aim of this bachelor thesis is to serve as explanatory instrument for teachers and their students during geography and physics classes on gymnasiums. The main goal of this thesis is to extend the knowledge of physics the Earth. This thesis is primarily focused on introducing the Earth as dynamic body. I explain, that energy released during cooling of the Earth is responsible for plate tectonics, volcanic and seismic activity, and internal magnetic field.