

Abstract

The thesis analyzes the effect of the Austrian emigration in Czechoslovakia between 1934 and 1939. It examines their activity and monitors their stay. But it tries to outline the Czechoslovak public mood and attitude of the Czechoslovak official authorities. It also focuses on contemporary journalism.