

Annotation

Bachelor degree thesis is focused on the social pathological phenomena of junior school pupils. Theoretical part describes different kinds of social pathological phenomena that can occur during teenage period. This part explains basic terms concerning social pathological phenomena. Not only there is a description of a junior school pupil development but it describes chosen social pathological phenomena occurring at junior schools as well. Practical part finds the most frequent social pathological phenomena of junior school pupils. Questionnaire survey and case study are used for their identification at schools.