

The primary aim of the study presented here is to draw attention to the main psychosocial specifics of a phenomenon that has been expanding in recent years in EuroAmerican society - the non-marital cohabitation of "mixed gender partners" - and describe, analyse and systemise these specifics.